

Trinity Exploration and Production Services Limited is seeking to hire, competent, experienced Petroleum Engineers who will be responsible for assessing the potential location, quantity and quality of hydrocarbon deposits, and for planning, managing and optimising extraction.

Qualifications and Basic Requirements:

- Bachelors in Petroleum Engineering or Reservoir engineering or equivalent
- Minimum of 5 years' local experience
- Minimum of 2 years' experience in upstream
- Able and willing to be on call outside of standard working hours
- Adept in software including Microsoft suite, PETEX suite, TWM, Qrod, Cfer

Responsibility includes:

- Preparation and submission of all required government and regulatory documents including WO1, WO2, WO3, DRL5 and PROD1, and ensuring full compliance with all regulatory requirements
- Providing engineering support to well-intervention operations to ensure delivery of the well objectives through daily interface with onsite personnel
- Preparing work-over and completion programs to meet in-house standards
- Identifying and incorporating best practices from past operations to ensure continuous improvement
- Preparing and conducting peer reviews and posting end of well reports and lessons learnt in order to ensure continuous improvement

Required competencies:

- Strong communication skills and ability to effectively collaborate with key stakeholders and other team members to meet goals
- Strong team player with demonstrated ability working within multi-disciplinary teams internally and externally to achieve consensus and alignment
- Full participation and compliance in the Company's safety programs, including START cards, incident reporting, drills etc.
- Adherence to Trinidad and Tobago health, safety and environment regulations

Preference:

- Creative thinker and willingness to be challenged
- Excellent analytical ability and communication skills
- Well versed with new equipment and techniques to improve performance in the relevant discipline
- Well-developed project management skills
- Strong commitment to delivering results while adhering to HSSE industry regulations and standards
- Ability to work independently and results oriented

Interested and qualified parties can email their applications to resume@trinioil.com on or before September 07th 2018.